Re: Testimonial for Jordan Low Jun Yi

Jordan was a Part Time Internship with KosmodeHealth from 3rd Feb 2025 to 30th June 2026.

Though young, Jordan knows the value of hands-on learning in a startup. He was not deterred when informed of the resource constraints but instead seized the learning opportunity by offering pro-bono support when he learnt of KosmodeHealth's mission to expand access to health from nature through a sustainable approach that does not damage the earth.

Working with no financial budget and tight time constraints during academic term, Jordan successfully revamped KosmodeHealth's corporate website. He handled every aspect of the UI/UX design process, ensuring an intuitive and visually compelling user experience that authentically reflected the company's innovative mission. Subsequently, he coded the complete website using Vite, React, and Tailwind CSS, delivering a responsive, fast-loading platform that is reflective of the corporate value and product benefits. This achievement highlighted not only his technical capabilities but also his resourcefulness, time management skills, and ability to prioritize effectively under pressure.

Jordan is not afraid to take on challenges. Knowing that KosmodeHealth is launching a new product, he readily offered to update the WOW brand website and improve the ordering process. Jordan is not afraid to try. Despite the lack of marketing experience, he gamely participated in marketing events; not only promoting KosmodeHealth's WOW® noodle but even dare to ask for customers' testimonials.

Throughout the internship, Jordan demonstrated a 'Can-do' mentality, the courage to undertake challenges and resolve problems, a sense of purpose. In short - a maturity beyond his age.

I will not hesitate to recommend Jordan to any organization.

Yours truly,

Florence Leong
